Hampton Falls, NH

Jan Gordon is a New Hampshire native, who spent 25 years in high tech as a Human Resources professional/manager. She was just getting started with a second career as a llama farmer when she retired from high tech. She and her husband Chris had started Sea Turne Llamas as a sideline and it became Jan's full-time job. She jumped into llamas and loved it. She initially signed up for the judging workshop to learn more about showing her animals. She was encouraged to continue in the judging program and liked it so much that she has been judging llamas since 1998.

She and her dog, a black lab named Razzamatazz, traveled the country from 1997 to 2002 attending llama shows, auctions and transporting animals.

She has shown many of her llamas and knows how much work it is to get ready to present them to a judge. She strives to give every animal a "good look" and to be impartial. She believes in creating a relaxed atmosphere in the ring where exhibitors and animals can "strut their stuff" to their best advantage.

Today she no longer travels across country in her Suburban, but her little dog Keiko goes everywhere with her and he likes the llamas almost as much as she does along with 2 black labs, a Chihuahua, two cats, and of course hubby Chris.
